Thomson Reuters Definition

| Last Price | Instrument’s most recent updated price quoted in the snapshot. If the security does not have trade on the day, the previous day close or the last available close price (whichever is latest) will be populated as the LAST price. |
| PE Ratio   | Ratio of stock price to earnings per share. The ratio is calculated by dividing Basic Earnings Per Share Excluding Extraordinary Items for the fiscal year by the Last Price and expressed as percentage. Basic EPS Excluding Extraordinary Items represents Income Available to Common Excluding Extraordinary Items divided by Basic Weighted Average Shares. |
| 5-year Average PE Ratio | This value represents the average Fiscal Year End Price Close for the 5 fiscal years divided by the average of Diluted EPS excluding Extraordinary Items for the same period. If Diluted EPS Excluding Extraordinary Items are not available, use Basic EPS Excluding Extraordinary Items. |
| Dividend Yield (12 Months) | This value is the current percentage dividend yield calculated as the Dividend paid per share to the primary common shareholders for the latest 12 months divided by the current close price, multiplied by 100. |
| Market Capitalization | Total market value of a company which is calculated by multiplying the current price by the current number of shares outstanding. The current number of shares outstanding refers to the number of all issued shares from all exchanges. |
| 50-day Moving Average | Simple average on daily closing price over 50 days. |
| YTD Performance | The percentage change between the closing price of the latest completed tradable day and the closing price for the last tradable. |
| 1 Year Performance | The percentage change between the closing price of the latest completed tradable day and the closing price for 1 Year (365 calendar days) of the prior year. |
Principal Risk

This investment is not principal protected. It is possible that the redemption proceeds at maturity (in cash or in physical shares) are lower than the principal amount invested if the Final Price level falls below 100% of its Initial Price Level on the Final Valuation Date.

In the worst case scenario, there is a possibility that the Investor will not receive any of the principal invested at maturity if Final Price Level falls to zero on the Final Valuation Date.

Redemption proceeds may also be lower than Principal Amount invested if the Investment is terminated early by the Bank (for reasons other than the occurrence of the Early Redemption Event) or is redeemed by the Investor prior to maturity.

Investment in any market may be extremely volatile and subject to sudden fluctuations of varying magnitude due to a wide range of direct and indirect influences. Such characteristics can lead to considerable losses being incurred by those exposed to such markets. If an investment is withdrawn or terminated early, it may not return the full amount invested. In addition to the normal risks associated with investing, international investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavourable fluctuations in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles or from economic or political instability in certain jurisdictions. Narrowly focused investments and smaller companies typically exhibit higher volatility. There is no guarantee of positive trading performance. Investments in emerging markets are by their nature higher risk and potentially more volatile than those inherent in some established markets. Economies in emerging markets generally are heavily dependent upon international trade and, accordingly, have been and may continue to be affected adversely by trade barriers, exchange controls, managed adjustments in relative currency values and other protectionist measures imposed or negotiated by the countries with which they trade. These economies also have been and may continue to be affected adversely by economic conditions in the countries in which they trade.
